I. W. W.

WORKERS TO BE BROUGHT FROM
U. S. TO OPERATE PROPERTIES

Undertaking to be Financed by the Government; Agreement
Holds for Two Years

MOSCOW.—William D. (Big Bill) Haywood heads a group of American I. W. W. men to whom Premier Lenin has granted a concession to operate the big Nadezhinsky iron works in the Ural mountain region, part of the coal mines in the Kuznetsk basin and auxiliary factories.

Haywood disappeared from the United States last year while under $85,000 bail after he and about 90 other I. W. W. men had been convicted of espionage and conspiracy against the government in the war. He has since taken some part in the demonstrations of the three international at Moscow.

Workers From U. S.
It is stipulated that 4,500 fully qualified Americans with a technical personnel shall be brought to Russia to operate the properties and that each of them must purchase $100 worth of tools or instruments for his own equipment and sign a promise to observe all the rules of the soviet labor code.

The announcement states that the government has assigned $200,000 toward financing the undertaking. It is also to provide wood to build homes for workers and assigns 27,000 acres of land for agriculture. The American workers are to be organized into a trade union association.

The agreement is to hold for two years.

Send Over Engineers
NEW YORK.—H. S. Calvert, one of the men associated with William D. Haywood in obtaining a concession to operate iron works and coal mines in Russia, says that party of engineers and technicians will soon leave for Russia to prepare the way for thousands of American workers.

Calvert, like the other concessionaires, is a member of the I. W. W. and was formerly a foreman in the Ford automobile plant in Detroit.

The others in the group of concessionaires, Calvert said, are Thomas Barker and D. Bayer, who are well-known in I. W. W. circles in this country, but are now in Russia with Haywood, and C. J. Rutgers, a native of Holland who has been identified with the I. W. W. movement in the United States.

EMPLOYMENT SCHEME
FOUND FRAUDULENT
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Large numbers of persons have been made victims of fraudulent advertising for jobs in connection with the Muscle Shoals project near Florence, Ala. It is said in a statement issued Tuesday by the United States civil service commission.

It is stated by the commission that there has been brought to its attention recent advertising throughout the country in which persons out of work have been promised positions at the Muscle Shoals project, conditioned upon their paying a registration fee of one dollar each. It is said that large numbers of unemployed men have responded, paying the required registration fee and receiving nothing in return. It is understood that the matter is to be presented to the department of justice for investigation and possible prosecution.

WHEAT LEADS FARM EXPORTS FROM U. S. DURING YEAR 1921

More Wheat Sent Out Last Year than at Any Other Time in History

EXCEEDS COTTON EXPORTS FOR
FIRST TIME IN LIFE OF NATION

Corn Exports Larger than in Any Year Since 1900

CHICAGO, Ill.—Wheat was king of American agricultural exports in 1921. An analysis of the 1921 exports of thirty-two of the principal agricultural products grown in the United States, made public Tuesday by the department of agriculture, shows that more wheat was exported during last year than in any preceding year in the history of the country, and that for the first time the export value of wheat and wheat flour exceeded the value of cotton exports.

Exports of corn in 1921, including cornmeal converted into terms of corn, were larger than in any year since 1900. Since 1919 the United States has become an exporter of rice, the exports of 600,000,000 pounds in 1921, being more than 23 times the average annual rice exports in the five-year period 1920 to 1914.

The principal agricultural exports during 1921 and their declared values were:

Wheat and wheat flour, $551,000,000; cotton, $334,000,000; pork and pork products, including lard, $248,000,000; beef, $235,000,000; corn and cornmeal, $205,000,000; sugar, $149,000,000; rice, $144,000,000; condensed and evaporated milk, $58,000,000; condensed oil, $24,000,000; rice, $21,000,000 and barley, $21,000,000.

Exports which showed an increase in quantity over 1920 were:

Wheat, cotton, corn, rice, barley, pork and pork products except bacon, oleo oil, cottonseed oil and cake, refined sugar, green apples, eggs, linseed, dried apples, dried apricots, and dried prunes. Exports which showed a decrease in quantity were:

Wheat flour, rye and rye flour, oats, beef, bacon and butter and cheese, condensed milk, potatoes, beans, dried peaches and raisins.

EXPECT ICE TO MOVE OUT SOME TIME THIS WEEK

It's getting sick.
Meaning the ice in the river, of course. The channel is clear of ice as far as Isle La Pume, rivermen report, and the open stretch of water which starts at the mouth of the La Crosse river and runs southward as far as the eye can reach is getting wider every hour.

However, the best authorities in the city are not guessing that the ice will move out between the bridges today or tomorrow. They do venture the expectation that it might begin to move Friday or Saturday.

Others, who do not profess to be as well posted on ice conditions, are guessing that it might begin to move by Wednesday or Thursday.

And there you are.

After a sharp rise, the river is again falling, the weather bureau reports. In the last twenty-four hours, the stream has fallen six inches.

Eleven Brides In Twelve Years Is Record of "Marrying Moore"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Isaiah Moore's twelfth marriage was to have taken place in Minneapolis Tuesday, according to local authorities who arrested the man Monday on a charge of bigamy and embezzlement. Moore is alleged to have had several aliases, among them being George Melrose.

Moore was arrested on a charge of embezzlement preferred by his last wife, Harriet Evans, a florist school teacher and his eleventh bride. He is said to have embezzled $500 from her. He deserted the Evans woman after they had been married less than a week.

Miss Evans said when Moore deserted her she reported the case to a national detective association, who traced "George Melrose, the name under which she married him, to Logansport, Ind., and then back to Indianapolis, where he was arrested.

PROPOSED TO OTHERS
According to the story Moore told the police that he had proposed to several Indianapolis women since his arrival here last week.

Of the eleven girls he said he married, he could not remember the last names of two. The first wife was Flora Dolf of Wyoming, Pa., whom he married twelve years ago. They had one child, he said.

He is said to have confessed to marrying the following other women in the order named:

Amelia Werner of Detroit, Mich., married at Windsor, Canada, under the name of Harry Moore.

Sue Harris of Houma, La., whom he married under the name of George Shields.

Bessie (he could not remember her last name), of Wilson, N. C., whom he married under the name of George Shields.

A woman whose given name was Gertrude, but whose last name he is said to have told the police he could not remember, of Findlay, Ohio. He gave his name as Howard Wilson, on that occasion, it was said.

Pretoria government forces are closing in on the revolutionaries from the east and west, according to late advices from South Africa. The night centers of resistance are now at Fordsburg and Jeppestown, where the government forces are opposed by heavily armed rebel commandos.

A Johannesburg dispatch says the main railway line was dynamited near the Transvaal border, and a locomotive was derailed but there were no casualties.

Dutch Citizens Aid British
Johannesburg, which on Saturday and Sunday, was the center of the battle area, resumed its normal appearance Monday, according to Reuters' correspondent there. The streets were filled with the usual shopping crowds and the fashionable tea-rooms and stores were all doing business.

The correspondent declares the Dutch burghers have materially assisted the British forces in their successes against the revolutionaries, being especially effective in outflanking positions held by the rebels. They made many captures in the vicinity of Benoni and Dunsburg.

Capture Rebel Stronghold
JOHANNESBURG.—By The Associated Press.—Government forces have captured Brakpan, entering the town Monday afternoon.

Brakpan is a coal mining center, twenty-two miles east of Johannesburg, and has been a revolutionary stronghold. A Cape Town dispatch stated that Major General Vandenberg was marching on Brakpan after having captured Benoni.

The commandos at Fordsburg, five miles west of this place, have been notified by the government that they must evacuate their positions by 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, failing which they will be subjected to bombardment.

Seek to Avoid Bloodshed
JOHANNESBURG.—Advices from the western district Monday afternoon showed the government forces were sweeping in from both sides upon the commandos fighting at Malabesburg, the advance government forces having reached the ridges overlooking the town.

It was believed the hill in the fighting meant that Premier Smuts was trying to obtain the unconditional surrender of the strike commandos so as to avoid the loss of life which would be entailed in overwhelming them with his forces.

PRISONER SUICIDES

SATEM, Ore.—Archie McCoy, 30, prisoner at the state penitentiary, committed suicide in his cell Monday night by hanging himself with a bed sheet. McCoy once escaped from the penitentiary at Stillwater, according to prison records and later was twice paroled. The Impressionable Lady Finds There Is a Certain Something About Spring

By The Impressionable Lady
THERE'S something mysterious about the spring feeling of excitement that makes one want to dash out and buy things. We had a theory that people are more impulsive in the spring—less given to deliberation—more impulsive—eager. Spring isn't a practical season, we thought, but just because it isn't people buy and the stores sell and business stirs up merrily. It was a pleasant theory and being convinced that it was the true basis of an important economic fact we started out to prove it on Main street. We knew we'd put the theory to a most exacting test when we looked around at the glassware, china, brooms, baskets, aluminum and oil-cloth.

"Does spring affect this sort of business?" we queried politely—certainly it didn't.

"Of course," replied the manager promptly.

"Just what do you sell more of here because it is spring?" we defied him.

"Dreams!" said he.

So Materialistic! Don't You Think?
We were chagrined. Of course spring is just—still it would hardly be fair to the theory to count brooms in the final score.

We stopped at the linen counter.

"Why do you have linen sales in the spring?"

There's an undeniable charm in beautiful linen, surely the urge to possess it must burst forth unrestrained in the heart of the housewife in the spring. But the saleswoman's answer was disappointing.

"Well, women shop for Christmas presents in the fall and so have no money left to spend on the things they want themselves. When spring comes they can replenish the linen."

We travelled on still clinging obstinately to the pleasant theory that a sudden expansiveness of soul induced by the balmy weather was the true explanation of spring business. But everyone tried to convince us that it was only common sense.

The Theory Finds Support
"Why do people redecorate in the spring, buy those fascinating lavender and green crochets and spend more on rugs and furnishings than at any other time of the year?" they do, don't they?" we added anxiously.

"They certainly do—but hardly anyone redecorates in the fall—but that's just because folks want everything clean and fresh like out of doors."

"Those lovely old-fashioned rag rugs and that painted furniture—"

"Yes, it's true the first warm days do bring lots of people who want new furnishings for their homes. But the stores aren't set by the spring or anything else. America has developed standards in house furnishings that it would be hard to improve on. Flattery is the thing, spring or winter."

"What's the psychology of selling spring clothes?" we asked a dealer in women's furnishings.

"There isn't much," said he. "It is just that people are glad to get out of their winter clothes, they get so sick of their heavy coats. It is more of a buying problem than a selling one. People want what is the style. Now flannels are buying pole coats—they're mannish and becoming to a little person. Then there are these suits."

He displayed an outfit of deep rose color consisting of a short cape, a smock like a painter's and knickers, a really enticing affair.

"This is a fifteen," he continued, "but we've had to order larger sizes too. You know girls always want to be boys and this gives them the best chance they've had to pretend."

All this was very interesting and we lingered a moment longer over the tweeds and the English looking capes but it was getting us nowhere with that theory so we tried a hat shop next.

The Theory Blooms
"Is it easier to sell hats in the spring?" we demanded of the owner of a popular shop.

"Not for me," her voice dropped into a confidential tone as she looked hastily about the crowded shop.

Our glance reproached her—the facts of the case disproved her statement.

"Oh, the hats sell all right," she explained hastily. "But in the fall people demand and are willing to pay

TEST VOTE ON 4-POWER PACT COMES TODAY

First Issue of Senate Fight on Pacific Treaty Expected to be Decided Late this Afternoon

ROBINSON AMENDMENT TO PACT
COMES UP FOR VOTE AT FOUR

Protects Rights of Non-Signatory
Nations, Declares
Arkansas Senator

WASHINGTON.—The first issue of the senate fight over ratification of the four-power Pacific treaty will be decided Tuesday when a vote is taken on the amendment proposed by Senator Robinson, democrat of Arkansas. Unanimous consent for a vote on the amendment at 4 p. m. was given by the senate Monday on the proposal of Senator Swanson, democrat of Virginia. After an all day attack on the treaty in which Senators Johnson of California and Borah of Idaho, both republicans, took the lead.

As modified by Senator Robinson, his amendment provides that the rights of nations both in and out of the four-power group are to be respected, and that non-signatory as well as signatory nations shall be invited to any conference held to consider controversies affecting insular interests in the Pacific "or any far eastern questions." Administration leaders said they were assured of sufficient votes to defeat the amendment, which, until Senator Robinson's speech yesterday, favoring its adoption in the interest, he said, of Russia, China, and other nonsignatory nations, had been touched on but little in the senate debate.

No Alliance—Willis
In response, he said, to "a large number of telegrams from Youngstown, Ohio, protesting against the four-power treaty," Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, today issued the following statement:

The four-power pact creates no alliance. It encroaches in no way whatever upon the sovereignty of the United States. It is based on civilized public opinion and not upon force. It is the longest step toward peace and mutual understanding in a thousand years, and I shall support it.

Lenroot Defends Pact
Supporters of the treaty again took the offensive when the senate resumed debate. Senators McCumber of North Dakota and Lenroot of Wisconsin, both republicans, led off for the ratification advocates, praising the treaty as a long step toward international understanding and deploring that it embodies dangerous entanglements. On the opposing side, Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, was given right of way for a legal argument attacking the treaty's obligations.

Emphasizing the importance of the four-power pact as an integral part of the arms conference program, Senator Lenroot suggested that if ratification of this treaty failed, President Harding might consider withdrawing the others produced by the conference and asking for a popular verdict on the whole subject at the November election.

Key to Arms Program
Senator McCumber also declared the four-power arrangement was the key to the whole armament program but asked what had become of the republican campaign pledge of 1920, for an "association of nations," embracing the entire world in its scope.

L. C. H. S. DEBATE WIN OVER PORTAGE TEAM

Affirmative Speakers Lose To Mauston

La Crosse High school negative team was victorious in the debate.

The speakers from Portage were Weinke, Gross and Hamel. They upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that a reduction of national armaments to a period of ten years is practicable," using straightforward and well constructed arguments. Although they had hoped to win they were good losers.

The speakers of the negative were Stone, Nagle and Larson. These debaters had very strong points that were not only interesting but convincing. Each speaker knew what point he was to argue and by keeping to his limited topic made the most of the time allotted him.

The rebuttal gave each debater an equal chance to criticize his opponent and make his points more effective. This was both interesting and amusing to the listeners.

The debate was instructive and held the attention of a large and appreciative audience.

Professor Owen of Winona Normal was the judge and as the teams were graded in the scale of a hundred, the locals received 100 per cent and Portage 90 per cent.

Peterson, Haudahl and Leinfelder argued the affirmative of the question at Mauston and although they put up a good debate, lost with a grading of 90 while the negative received 92. This grading, although we lost, gives us, we hope, a chance to enter the final contest.

Professor Phillips acted as the judge.

Mr. Paley accompanied the team to Mauston and both he and Mr. Pierce deserve much commendation for the pep which has been injected into debating activities in La Crosse High this year.

divine talk in assembly Wednesday morning which was delivered by Dr. Gudux of the state board of health.

Dr. Gudux pointed out various, dangerous sicknesses, which he termed as communicable diseases, because they are both contagious and infectious. He classified them under this term because the state board of health is trying to get away from the use of technical language and it is using simple words so the people can understand it.

He said that any one who hides a case of sickness, as scarlet fever or diphtheria, and mingles with people, is more contemptible than a highway robber.

"In order to have good health we must have good habits," said Dr. Gudux in conclusion.

SPARTA HIGH LOSES TO HARGET'S MEN

Season Closes For Locals With Triumph Over Old Rival

The Red and Black by a score of 38 to 17 defeated Sparta Saturday night.

The La Crosse high soon obtained the lead and remained in the lead to the end of the game. Keegan took out most of the first squad and put in substitutes. Sparta could not force ahead in the first half so Keegan let the substitutes play the game to the finish.

This was the last game for the locals before entering the tournament which will be held in La Crosse this week.

Walden, playing for Sparta, showed good guarding while Rice put in the majority of Sparta's field goals. The locals missed many short shots which would have added much to the score. Harget led the scoring of the La Crosse team.

The Fearless Five defeated the Reiman Olympics by a score of 10-17 in the preliminary game.

The sectional basketball tournament will be held in the normal gym on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The following teams will take part: Mauston, Prairie du Chien, Baraboo, Tomah, Galesville, Hillsboro, New Lisbon and La Crosse.

SPRING IS HERE

"The feet that creeping slow to school,

Went storming out to playing."

"Them's the sentiments!"

How it re-echoed in each of their hearts.

Freddy Freshman, in 207, looked at the clock with a pang. Only 2:18!

Had that timepiece stopped?

He slipped his chubby hand in his pocket. Yes, "there" were still there.

How heavy they felt. Touching them, he sensed a delicious tremor creeping over him. An hour more!

In 214 sat Sam the Sophomore.

Lazily he lifted his arms from the desk. He stretched them outward confidently.

Ah, that good right arm. "Quite dependable," mused he.

No, knight of old could wield a sword as Sammy swung his bat. An hour more.

Sid by side they sat in 212. But, what different emotions surged within them.

Languidly, Johnny, the junior closed his eyes. There it all was before him—the field, the runners keyed to the pitch, waiting the signal shot. He grew tense, then opened his eyes suddenly. "An hour more!"

Across the aisle the senior reclined in his seat.

"Doesn't everyone look cheerful—and, so nice?" were his thoughts.

Absently, his dreamy orbs wandered toward the windows, toward the glorious outdoors.

The heavenly blue of the skies that matched her eyes. He had never noticed the green grass, the chirping of the birds, the budding trees before.

Why now?

He smiled—but impatiently. An hour more!

So raged the fever of spring. "Tempus fugit,"

A hell rings.

The timid freckle to his marbles, the stalwart soph to his bat, the fleet junior to the track, and the handsome senior to his lady love.

The earth is young and free and gay.

"Oh—oh! Spring, beautiful Spring! Isn't it simply a wonderful thing?"

The exhibition accompanying the teacher's convention, which will be held in the gymnasium Thursday, Friday and Saturday March 17th, 18th, and 19th, has twofold purposes.

One is, to enable the teachers to become acquainted with any product which some teacher has carried out successfully throughout the school year.

The other, to exhibit the work of the pupils of every school so as to give the teachers an idea as to what other schools are doing.

It has not as yet been decided whether or not the pupils will be admitted to the exhibition.

The High School Girl Reserves were victorious over the W. J. U. team in an exciting basket ball game on Thursday evening. The game was close all the way through, and ended in a tie.

For this reason an exciting tie playing period was necessary and the final ending of the game was a score of 17 to 14. The Girls Reserves playing were Janet Atkinson, Loretta Schaefer, Mabel Schneider, May Goldsmith, Fern Tansche, Maude Holmstrom, and Florence Hayek.

Miss Frost's fourth period French class is going to put on a clever skit at the exhibit held during the teachers' convention the latter part of this week. They are going to pretend to give an informal dinner dance, and the menu and invitations are to be written in French.

Jessie Elbert, co-ordinator of a group of girls, numbering eight at her home on Saturday evening March 4. Topics of the day were discussed and dining featured the evening. Refreshments were served and all reported a very fine time.

State Tests have been given in the Latin classes.

Miss Shields Latin 4 class, Period 3 has organized a Latin club called "Inter Nos." The club will meet and give entertainments after school in the class room.

A race was held in the girls' swimming class last Tuesday between four of the advanced swimmers. Helen Killian came in first and Ora Lein second.

Several members of the High School orchestra played at the Mauston School Thursday evening.

The Girls Glee Club sang at the Washington School Thursday night.

The English 5 classes are holding their contests for speakers for the Junior-EX contest.

The contestants of the oratorical and the declamatory try-outs are preparing their speeches. It is believed that a very interesting contest will be held.

The members of the G. O. O. A. society entertained their new members at a tea Thursday after school in Room 7.

TRANSFER CASES OF BADGER DRY AGENT TO FEDERAL COURT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The charges of manslaughter against three federal prohibition agents, Joseph Dorr, William Loose and Nicholas Amann, who are alleged to have shot and killed Julius Wurzer in a cabin near Antigo, on December 22, was taken from the state courts and placed in jurisdiction of federal courts Tuesday.

Transfer of jurisdiction was obtained by William O. Mellahn, assistant U. S. district attorney, on a writ of habeas corpus from a cause granted by Federal Judge F. A. Geiger.

No date has been set for the trial. The prohibitionists are at liberty on bail of $1,000.

PREST-O-LITE'S Double Message to Car Owners

Here is a two-fisted battery offer to the owners and drivers of automobiles: Prest-O-Lite's 1922 prices. The Greatest Battery Values:

Prest-O-Plates, the greatest advance in battery making.

Either one singles out Prest-O-Lite from other batteries. Combined they make it a battery value without a rival.

Money-Saving Figures

Prest-O-Lite Batteries represent the greatest value in years. Consider that you can buy a regular Prest-O-Lite Battery for popular makes of light cars for $19.90 (trade-in price).

Here are other outstanding values: $24.50 (trade-in price) for a 6-volt type serving

BUICK MAXWELL CHANDLER
OAKLAND HUDSON ESSEX
12-volt type at $32.30 (trade-in price) that serves

MAXWELL DODGE FRANKLIN

There are similar reductions on every Prest-O-Lite Battery, and Prest-O-Lite builds a correct type of battery for every make of motor car and truck.

Yes, With PREST-O-PLATES

These are not special models. They are top-quality Prest-O-Lites, with the famous Prest-O-Plates.

Prest-O-Plates are as different from ordinary battery plates as gold is from gilt. They combine unusual hardness with a peculiar porosity. None of the old plate compromise between hardness and porosity. Prest-O-Plates have both.

This explains their ready dependable reserve power in biting zero weather, and their non-buckling, heat-resisting strength in summer.

Experts say that they are the world's best battery plate, and this is the same as saying that Prest-O-Lite is the world's best battery.

For the life of a battery is in the plates. You never need a new battery until the plates in your old go bad. As long as you have live plates, you have a battery.

Doubly Guaranteed

And every part of a Prest-O-Lite Battery is worthy, in material and workmanship, of Prest-O-Plates.

That is why 87 leading manufacturers specify Prest-O-Lite as original equipment, and "the list is growing."

Every Prest-O-Lite is backed by the regular Prest-O-Lite guaranty, a definite obligation, plus a spirit that says the car owner must be pleased.

Use PREST-O-LITE Service

It is our business, as part of Prest-O-Lite Service, the oldest organized service to motorists, to carry out this spirit; and to see that you get every bit of life out of a Prest-O-Lite Battery.

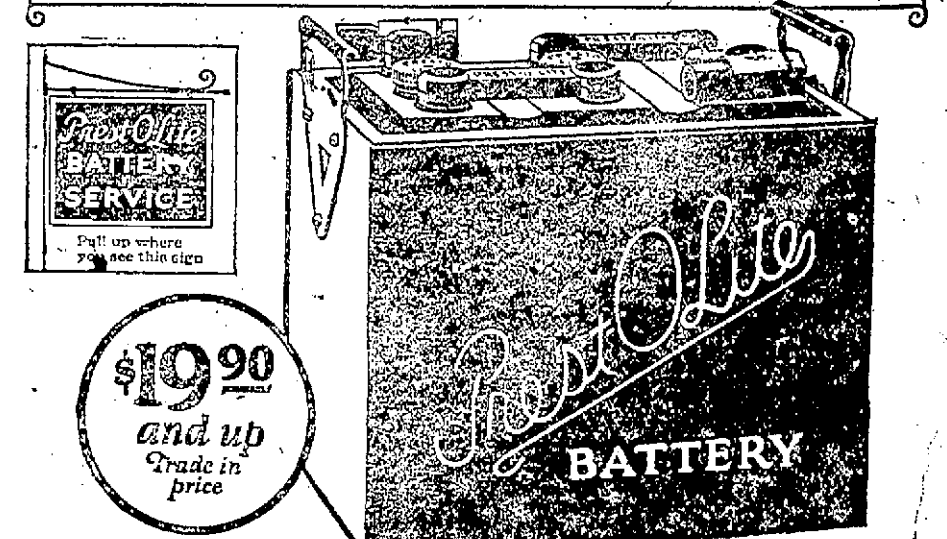

But, no matter what battery you have, use our Service Station. You will find our experts ready to help you prolong the life of your battery. No one here will tell you that you need a new battery until you do. Come around today.

WORK WORKS

THEY said they were here, what shall we do, that we might work the works of God?—John 6: 28.

Good Example

GOOD news for the world was contained in the dispatches from Washington and London reporting reductions of hundreds of millions in the army budgets for the British Empire and the United States. Great Britain reduced her army estimates for the coming year by about $150,000,000. The United States cut down $116,000,000. If Great Britain, threatened by revolution in India, South Africa and Egypt, can trim 150 millions off its army allowance one wonders if the United States, threatened by no visible danger in any quarter of the world, could not have sunk the knife a little deeper. That is a hasty empirical judgment, of course, for our army was reduced much faster after the world war than was the British, and it may be that there was less fat on the army appropriation for American thrift to trim off than there was for the British. In any case, it is a good sign.

One hopes the British example will prove contagious enough to spread across the Channel. Of all the many things the matter with Europe right now a majority, probably, find their roots eventually in the persistence with which European countries stick to over-sized armies. France, probably, is the worst example not only because her army is largest but because a nation of her leading position ought to know better. France is presumably one of the most progressive and enlightened of modern republics, and her adherence to the Napoleonic or Hohenzollern school of militarism is hugely disappointing to her friends in other countries. Not only does the existence of the big French army by itself disturb the peace of Europe, but its influence distorts the logic of governing minds all over the continent. Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Russia, Yugoslavia—all the nations that are at liberty to do so under the treaties of peace are begging themselves with armies far beyond their means, either as protection against or allies for the French policy.

The consequence is crushing tax burdens which cripple and kill industry and trade, inflation which sends prices soaring and redoubles unrest, speculation, impossible exchange rates and constant talk of war when there is not actual fighting across one or another of the new European frontiers. Reduction of armies might not immediately restore a normal state of affairs, but it would help greatly. In any event it is safe to say that there is small chance for a return of normality until there is a drastic revision downwards of the military establishments maintained in Europe.

The British and American examples are little more to this situation than just good examples. Incomparably more effective would be a similar reduction by France. But the examples may develop some force if by their agency there can be a reduction in taxation and a consequent improvement in the condition of business and of individuals. To the people who support government, after all, their own well-being and comfort is more important than the vindication of a governmental policy, however grandiose. What does it benefit the average Frenchman that Paris overawes Germany and keeps all Europe more or less at its feet? If he can make the connection between this policy and his own staggering tax bill, his own experience with a mounting cost of living, the policy is likely to come down by the run. If the United States and Great Britain can translate reduced army expenses into reduced taxes and better business they will help the Frenchman to perceive cause and effect, and there will be something brewing in the chamber of deputies.

The Wonder Man

WILSON was a "dunce" at Versailles. Senator Reed of Missouri said so. This Ben Hecht fellow described him as "a virgin trapped in a bawdy house and valiantly demanding a glass of lemonade." Senator Reed was not less graphic in his denunciation of Wilson's "stupidity." Now it is Secretary of State Hughes, at the arms conference, who has made a fool of himself. Wilson, Harding and Hughes, all simpletons in the hands of wily and sinister foreign statesmen. The quick perception of Senator Reed, and his tempered and judicial exposition, have made strong cases against two presidents and a secretary of state. Listening to the senator's tirades, the country must reach the conclusion that the national safety must hereafter be safeguarded by pitting against the subtle and clever diplomacy of our neighbors none other than Reed. Without him there can be no treaties. Like "Pathe News," he "sees all, knows all." Except his verdicts—all else is piffle.

In fact the only weak spot in the armor of the blustering and indecate senator from Missouri was that pierced by Senator Lenroot the other day, when by adroit question he disclosed the fact that either Senator Reed had not read the Four-Power treaty, or was entirely mistaken both as to the language and the meaning of its fundamental provisions. We have a few wonderful men in the senate of the United States, and the most wonderful thing about them is how they get there.

Modern St. George

AT Monmouth Washington, coming up after a reverse, turned defeat into victory. "Then was Washington's power as a commander seen," said the historian. There was the achievement of Sheridan at Winchester after the famous ride. Lloyd George is hastening from Wales to London, his vacation interrupted by a situation which menaces the British empire at many points. The premier's power as a national leader is to face its extreme test. With more or less trading and finessing, the "little Welshman" has made a great record. If he can bring order out of today's chaos and restore the stability of the empire, he will probably go down in history as a political genius of the first magnitude. He can ride "ride to Winchester", but can he turn the tide?

Communist deputy in the Prussian parliament got so mad when a conservative colleague invited him to a "beer evening" that he threw the invitation in the host's face and created a tumult in the parliament. Can you imagine one of our American communists with a "beer evening" in prospect? We know he would not turn up the bid and throw it in his host's face—not by several quarts.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
A number of north side business men are agitating the plan of building a new steel viaduct to take the place of the old one which now crosses the Milwaukee tracks at Rose street and having street cars run over it instead of bumping over the tracks as at present over the Mill street crossing. They contemplate presenting a petition to have the new bridge built to the common council.
An effort is being made by Congressman John J. Esch to establish a free delivery mail route between West Salem and Melrose in place of the Star route now in existence. At present the carrier simply takes a closed pouch between the two places but if the new route is secured he will deliver letters at all the farm houses along the route.
The wagon bridge was swung yesterday afternoon for the first time since navigation closed last fall.
Mr. Henry Rooney and Miss Grace Ryan, both of this city, were married yesterday afternoon in Winona. Mr. Rooney is employed in the Novelty restaurant.

The city has ordered three new street sprinklers for use this summer. They cost $1,050.

The Wallflower

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"Who is the girl in the corner?" asked Mark Wynne of his young hostess.

"Oh, that is Millie Parker—pretty, isn't she? But she can't dance, or doesn't want to—they call her the wallflower"—they are a thoughtless bunch—and with a charming upward lift of her shoulder the most thoughtless one of all turned with him and swung again into the music of the dance.

Dr. Wynne could not dance very well and Miss Wynne was glad to lose him for one of her own set, a graceful, black-eyed youth who sparkled as the town wit.

"Who is that sitting with Millie Parker?" asked Miss Wynne.

"The medicine man is sitting in the shadow of the wallflower," sighed George.

"He cannot be enjoying himself," worried Miss Wynne.

"If looks count he is having the time of his life—and say, Miss Wynne, she looks pretty tonight in that blue dress," he added.

"Where is Alfred Brown?" asked Miss Wynne, changing the subject.

"Silent. Whisper it—the fever!"

"Not that makes thirty cases in town."

Miss Wynne was silent after that. The epidemic had started, as such things usually do, in an unhealthy slum near the river's edge—there had been whispers of polluted drinking water—sanitation rules violated, and the town authorities were confronted with a grave situation.

Mark Wynne, passing through the little town from a hunting trip in the north, had stopped to see his old friend, the father of Miss Wynne, and his appearance at the little party was a happy event.

Long after he had retired that night he thought of the dread disease which was sweeping through La Crosse, and he thought of something Millie Parker had said to him that evening while her young companions fox-trotted around them.

"We need nurses," said Millie thoughtfully.

"They can be sent from town—easily," exclaimed Mark, with a mental note to start something when he returned to the city.

"We have thirty here now—one for each case—and now we shall need more. Dr. Wynne, do you think you could help in some way, take care of six people, my own, until they were—and there is no reason why I could not help save a life—I am alone except for some cousins who are leaving."

"Have you any fear of the disease?"

"No."

"When you might do you could help a regular trained nurse, relieve her. I will see what I can do."

But when two days later he tried to go to see Alfred Parker he found to his dismay that she had gone to a farmhouse three miles away to nurse an old man who was very ill.

"How as poverty herself and gone to nurse a man who hasn't money enough to pay for his own medicine," complained Miss Wynne's cousin.

"I am not sure," said Miss Wynne, "but I think that case myself. I came down to help out, and Miss Wynne's case sounds like a desperate one."

"Desperately foolish," grumbled the timid soul as she closed the door gently behind him.

Miss Wynne did not question Mark's unexpected arrival at the plain little house on the rocky hillside. Old Peter Jenkins was very sick, he would never have any better. It was impossible to find any one to stay with him—and he had no relatives, and so Millie had come.

"She's a pretty little girl," sighed Peter in one of his lucid moments. "Reminds me of my Susan—little and always tender, my cousin's old girl. Susan's sleeping out there on the hillside along with my son and his sisters and brothers. They left me all alone, and I'm just waiting for the word to go. Seems as if it would never come," he added querulously.

Millie fitted into the room with a cup and spoon "just a little bit," said this, "Lucky Strike," she coughed. "I'll take a taste myself first to keep you company." The old man smiled and took the medicine. His dim eyes followed the little young form around the room. "She's as sweet and wholesome as them wallflowers—my life's passed along the stone wall," he murmured.

Millie blushed as she met the young doctor's eyes for she knew that he had heard her nickname of wallflower.

One day Peter had a visitor, a grave-looking man, who stayed for awhile and talked in a low tone to the sick man. The next day he came again, brought some other people with him. Dr. Wynne trembled on this, but Mr. Jenkins had his own way.

It was Millie who sat through the long night alone with the dying man. It was Millie who talked with him about Susan and the other children and the wife who had passed on before and who were all waiting for his coming on that other shore.

"And you, little wallflower," he whispered, "what of you, all alone in the world?"

"I shall find a way," said Millie bravely, trying not to cry over his death. "I shall find a way to stay. I am learning to nurse sick people. Taking care of you has helped me, and some day I shall go to a large hospital, training a host of nurses and doctors."

"No, no, you will do nothing of the sort, you shall marry me, you know. I love you, little wallflower, and you

Peggy Pinks A Party

"My Mother Goose party was the nicest party ever," said Peggy gaily, as she pulled a chair up beside Aunt Maudie. "Everything went off just right, and I planned it all myself. I knew you were going to have a party," said her aunt. "You were talking about it last time you were here. Tell me about it."

I'd like to invite, and pretty soon it was a great big party. "Most girls like dress-up parties, so I had a Mother Goose party. Everybody came dressed up like some one in a Mother Goose fable."

"You should have seen them, Auntie. There were Mother Goose, and the Queen of Hearts, and Peter, and Little Miss Muffet, and lots more. Some of the costumes were so pretty, just made with crepe paper or crepe-cloth, you know."

"Everybody just fell in with the idea, and made it lots of fun. We had some contests and games. Every one was given a piece of paper with the name of a fable in Mother Goose on it and told to tear out in one piece a picture illustrating the fable. Some of them were so funny! We had a prize for the best one."

"Then I had some pictures of Mother Goose characters which were cut up in different ways and I put them all out on our big table. Then we tried to see who could put the most together."

"After that we tried saying tongue twisters, like 'Peter Piper,' and every one got so tangled up they couldn't talk straight for a long time."

"Then I brought in a lot of new clothespins and huge paper of all different colors, and some blue and red, and every one got to work to make a clothespin doll. It's love him. My eyes are dim, but I could see that." He smiled cheerfully at her, and she hid her blushing face in her white apron and received his blessing on her hot head. Mark Wynne came away from the room and Millie did not know that he had heard those words and longed to answer.

Reverend morning dawned again Peter Jenkins' happy spirit had winged upward to join his loved ones and Millie was alone.

A few days afterward, when the house was empty of its tenant and Millie was preparing to leave, the strange lawyer came to her.

"Peter Jenkins left a will," he said solemnly. "He died a rich man. You are his sole heir."

The little wallflower, who thought she had nursed a poor man, broke down and cried miserably. The lawyer took himself off and sent for Mark Wynne.

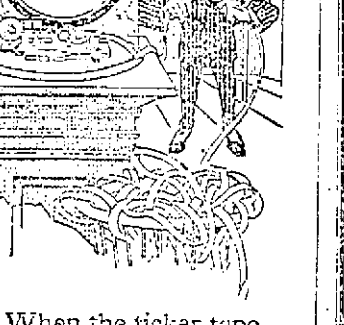

"You remember Mr. Jenkins' prophecy, don't you, Millie?" he asked.

"You heard," blushed Millie.

"Over, and it is coming true. Little wallflower, isn't it?" he whispered.

"Miss Smith intercalated. 'That little wallflower'." (Copyright, 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

ONE REEL YARNS

THE DRUM BEAT

The orchestra drum breathed a sigh of relief. It was getting a brief rest and had a chance to relax. "It's a hard life," the drum said sympathetically to the saxophone.

"You do have a hard time," said the saxophone sympathetically. "The lives of the members of our family are always very short," said the drum sadly. "They can't stand the wear and tear."

"Isn't there anything you can do about it?" inquired the saxophone. "I should think you'd get tired of being beaten up all the time without a chance to get back at them."

"It's all in the day's work," cried the drum. "I never thought of doing anything to show how I disliked getting treated this way. With this modern music the work is something terrible. I'm worked twice as hard as I was before."

"I wouldn't stand for it," said the saxophone.

"You're right," agreed the drum. "Meekness doesn't pay. I've stood being beaten up quite long enough. Next time I get treated that way I'm going to rebel. I'll just stretch myself as tightly as I possibly can, so that the old sticks will just rebound and give that guy a bump on the nose. Just see if I don't."

"You're only talking," sneered the saxophone.

"Am not," the drum insisted. "Just you wait and see what happens."

They stopped talking, as the musicians were returning. The saxophone gave a foot of encouragement to the drum, and the music began. There was a loud, popping noise. The saxophone wailed with fright. The drum, stretched too tightly, had been smashed completely. That was the end of its desire to rebel.

MOVE ON TO START TROUBLE BETWEEN FARMER AND LABOR

"Vicious Propaganda" Should be Checked at Inception Declares Market Chief

FARMERS' MARKET DEPENDS ON BUYING POWER OF LABORERS

Interests of all are identical
Claims Badger Official

MADISON, Wis. — Charge that there is a "vicious propaganda" going on in this country to cause trouble between farmers and laborers, which should be checked in its inception, was made today by Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, in a statement.

"This propaganda," Mr. Nordman said, "has recently found expression in some agricultural publications and is based on the supposed conflict of interests between the farmers and the workingmen. It is designed to stir up a conflict and misunderstanding between those two groups by saying that since the farmer is a small capitalist his interests are diametrically opposed to those of the workingmen."

"All of these persons ignore the fact that the farmer's market and consequently his welfare depend upon the buying power of the workingman and that inversely the workingman's assurance of steady employment and good remuneration depend upon how much the farmer can buy."

"If a working man receives less than he is entitled to he cannot buy all the farm products he needs thus letting them accumulate on the market which results in depression and poor prices for farm products. If the farmer receives less than he is entitled to he cannot make an effective demand for the products of industry thus causing overstocked markets, industrial depression, low wages and unemployment."

It is Mr. Nordman's opinion that

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "de-

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 117 known as Marsh-Root is not recom-

Don't wait until tomorrow to begin

YOUNG DODGE HELD AFTER "JOY-RIDE"; GIRL IS INJURED

Kalamazoo Normal Co-ed Jumps from Car Traveling at High Rate of Speed

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—John Duval Dodge, son of the late John Dodge, multi-millionaire and manufacturer of Detroit, was at liberty Tuesday on bail following a disastrous midnight joy ride Saturday and Sunday morning with three Kalamazoo Normal Co-ed girls. Dodge's companion, Rex Earl, Kalamazoo architect's assistant, also was at liberty on bail.

One of the girls, Miss Elinore Kwakernack, of Grand Rapids, is said to be in a serious condition from the injuries she sustained when she jumped from Dodge's car, and the injured normal student, Miss Elinore Kwakernack, and the latter's sister, Miss Margaret, both of Grand Rapids, returned to their homes.

Two Charges are Sworn Out
Two warrants were issued, one charging the Detroit man with driving an automobile while intoxicated, and the other charging him with kidnapping and transporting and furnishing information to a fugitive. The trial on the first charge was set for Tuesday morning, March 21, and his examination on the second accusation will be held immediately on the conclusion of his trial on the initial count.

Rex Earl was held on two counts, one charging him with drunkenness, and the other punishing him jointly with Dodge on the light offense. The car belonging to Robert Everett, of this city was held by the federal officers and may be confiscated. Earl pleaded not guilty to both charges, and his hearing was set for next Friday. He was released under $100 bail.

Girls Tell of Trip

Miss Kwakernack, Mrs. Stoenega and Elinore Kwakernack, returning home from a meeting late Saturday night when Dodge and Earl, the girls said drove up to the car and offered to take them home. The girls accepted, but protested, they said, when Dodge drove past their rooming house and out into the country. Their cries were drowned out when Dodge opened the muffler and drove at what the girls said was a rate of from six to thirty miles an hour. Five miles or so they were told Miss Kwakernack jumped out of the car, receiving a fracture of the frontal bone above the right eye. She was brought to a hospital by a motorist who found her unconscious in the road.

Dodge became alarmed, the three girls said, when a mile farther on he was told Miss Kwakernack had jumped out. When they drove back police took the young men into custody and released the girls.

The girls told the officers that aside from being driven at a high speed and being offered a bottle of gin neither of the men did anything to offend or frighten them.

Aside from denying he was intoxicated and asserting it was planned only to give the young women "a little ride," Dodge has refused to discuss the affair.

Once Disinherited

Upon the death of John Dodge, a few years ago, John Jr. was cut off with but $150. After many months, however, there was a settlement made out of court and young Dodge was given $2,000,000 of the $20,000,000 estate.

Dodge is now awaiting trial in Detroit on another charge of speeding. He has been served with a summons by Judge Barlow, who is making a specialty of handing out jail sentences to reckless drivers without the option of a fine.

PLEASING PROGRAM GIVEN MONDAY AT D. A. R. MEETING

AT THE HOME of Mrs. H. J. Bullock, 350 Cass street, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Bullock and Mrs. Thomas D. Budd entertained the members of the D. A. R. at its regular meeting. An exceedingly interesting paper was read by Mrs. Frank Winter upon "The Vehicle and Transportation." She commenced with the wheel as a vehicle and gave its evolution and power of revolution down to the auto, the present day mode of rapid transit, as the most wonderful power of locomotion. Mr. Budd, who has been giving talks about the city, creating an interest in the near east relief before the starting of the campaign, gave a most comprehensive and entertaining talk on the subject.

MRS. R. SCHEFFLER left recently for Chicago to make her home temporarily with her son, Carl. Mrs. Scheffler has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. G. E. Gruber, at Boston. The Schefflers are well known in the city and have many friends who regret their departure, after having resided here for 35 years. Mrs. Scheffler is one of the oldest members of the English Lutheran church, having been identified with its activities for a long period, being especially devoted to the Ladies' Aid and the Missionary societies.

THE MEMBERS of the Campbell Library club met on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Hauser for dinner. Thirty-six were in attendance. It was the annual meeting and election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. W. P. Hartley; vice president, Mrs. Ferdinand Hauser; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Sidney Hauser; librarian, Mrs. C. H. Hawkins. Reports of officers were given and accepted. The program was opened by singing of "Old Black Joe." The subject of the lesson was "Travel in the United States."

New York City, Down Town—Mrs. W. J. Dawson.

New York City, Up Town—Mrs. W. P. Hartley.

Current Events—Mrs. W. A. Tripp. Upon question, The Farm Bureau—Mrs. E. H. Kinsey.

A discussion followed.

Music—Mrs. R. P. French.

The meeting then adjourned to meet April 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tripp.

THE ANNUAL thank offering meeting of the Young Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church was held Monday night at the home of Mrs. G. C. Phillips, 327 South Sixth street. At 6 o'clock a surprise supper was served in cafeteria style, the "surprise" being that each member brought anything she chose, which resulted in a menu of large variety from which to select. A business session was held and a short interesting program was given. Miss Ellen Lumley was the leader and was assisted by Miss Gladys Schaller and Mrs. A. L. Myers. The general topic embodied "Home Missions and Rural Problem." Mrs. Myers gave a short talk on tithing. Eighteen members were in attendance and

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

Tells How She Did it With a Home-Made Remedy

Mrs. E. H. Boats, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look 20 years younger."

BERGHOLZ ON STAND IN HOSPITAL CASE TELLS OF MEETINGS

Testifies that Dr. Gunderson Talked of Building His Own Hospital

The Rev. Julius Bergholz, president of the La Crosse Lutheran Hospital association, under cross examination by George H. Gordon, at the adverse examination Monday afternoon as a preliminary to the suit brought by Mrs. E. Smedal and Herman Wolf against the Lutheran hospital because they were barred from taking patients to the hospital, denied that Dr. Gunderson, president of the hospital, had said at board meetings that he would bring any more patients to the hospital unless the alleged discord and unharmonious situations at the hospital were eliminated but Dr. Bergholz did admit that Dr. Gunderson had said, "He felt at times as though he would like to build his own hospital."

"Did you discuss everything you knew about the hospital at these board meetings? Did you take them up with the other trustees?" inquired Mr. Gordon.

"Not always," answered Mr. Bergholz.

"Did you ever talk with Dr. Gunderson about the affairs of the hospital?"

"Yes, I did."

"Did you ever tell the board of your conversations with Dr. Gunderson?"

"No, I thought it was a personal matter. Dr. Gunderson didn't mention any names."

Mr. Bergholz also declared that these conversations he had with Dr. Gunderson did not influence him against any of the other doctors. He testified that while Dr. Gunderson was abroad he received one letter from him in which the physician said he didn't care to act on a committee that was to plan for a new nurses' home. That was the only letter received from Dr. Gunderson.

"You and the other members of the board of trustees had much consideration to Dr. Gunderson's statement that he felt at times as though he would like to build another hospital, didn't you?" queried Mr. Gordon.

"Yes, we gave much consideration to Dr. Gunderson's statements."

"And because Dr. Gunderson has 95 percent of the cases at the hospital, you didn't want to lose him?"

Wanted Gunderson at Head

"We wanted Dr. Gunderson to be head of the staff of the hospital, the 'boss,' as you called him."

"Were you satisfied to have him rule the hospital?"

"We were satisfied with Dr. Gunderson's regulations."

The Rev. E. O. Vik, one of the incorporators of the hospital in 1890, a member of the board of trustees and for three years president of the association, was the next witness called. He testified that at the meeting of the trustees at which Dr. Smedal read a paper in which he pointed out some of the needs of the hospital, such as an intern, a record keeper and an X-ray operator, that he could see that no harmony existed in the staff of doctors.

"Dr. Smedal said the opportunities at the hospital were not as good as elsewhere. We thought they were," said Mr. Vik.

"We had no provision for the things Dr. Smedal said we lacked."

"Didn't you like to have attention called to those things?"

"We took it to be a criticism and didn't like the lack of harmony it showed."

Recalls Conversation

"Do you remember having a phone conversation with me last October at the time this patient of Dr. Smedal's was refused admission to the hospital and that you said you could not do anything in the matter and referred the case to the superintendent and that the superintendent had refused to admit the patient without a permit?"

"Yes, I recall the conversation."

"And do you remember hanging up the receiver on me, when I was in the middle of the word 'it'?"

"Yes, I remember."

"Now, that wasn't a very gentlemanly thing to do."

"I object to these personalities," said Clarence Weber, attorney for the hospital trustees. Judge Brindley sustained the objection.

A Fred Dittman was then recalled to the stand and asked if he recalled having a conversation with Stanley Gordon in which he is alleged to have said that Dr. Gunderson had two sons coming home from college to practice medicine and that if "there would be enough doctors at the hospital," Mr. Dittman could not recall having said exactly that remark, saying that he remembered talking with Stanley Gordon and that he said Dr. Gunderson's sons would soon return to the city and might practice with their father.

George Gordon then read into the records the minutes of the meeting of the board of trustees of October 19, at which time a resolution was passed empowering Dr. Gunderson to issue all permits for the admission of patients to the Lutheran hospital and that no patient could be admitted without a permit.

MARRIAGE OF CHORUS GIRL AND STUDENT LASTS BUT 9 DAYS

Mother of Bride to Seek Annulment of Marriage to School Boy

NEW YORK.—Annulment may be sought of the marriage in Milford, Conn., last week of Geneva Mitchell, 17-year-old Broadway chorus girl, to Robert Savage, 20, wealthy school-boy, who is preparing for Yale.

St. W. Rice, the girl's grandfather, stated Tuesday that her mother, Mrs. Verna Mitchell, probably would start an action this week to have the ceremony set aside on the ground that both parties were under age.

Mr. Rice also confirmed a report that the young couple separated last Saturday night and that the next day Savage started for La Jolla, Calif., to see his mother.

The Impressable Lady

Finds There is a Certain Something About Spring

For quality, line, design and material while in the spring at they want is something gay and frivolous.

We sighed with relief—she'd proved our theory in spite of herself. The shelves were blossoming in hats of petunias, larkspurs and all the fairy shades, and one patron was casting a jealous eye at the hat another was trying on. We appreciated the shop owner's high artistic standards, but we sympathized with the feminine flutterings over those frivolous hats.

"Does spring affect jewelry?" we next inquired.

"Yes, indeed—spring is a woman's season. For instance she buys mesh bags then. See these new ones," the saleswoman drew out a tempting mirror of silver with a top that cleverly concealed a mirror and a vanity case. An advertiser would call it "the final touch to a perfect toilette"—and so would any well dressed woman.

"Then these earrings anticipate light clothes," the saleswoman continued. Sure enough there were little flowers of pink or blue to fasten to the ear and swinging below on a bit of chain its mate for all the world like a tiny garland to hang over the ear. This was reassuring, for no woman needed these earrings—but who could resist them?

Spring Springs Even in Pharmacy

And then we visited a drug store. Surely now that no one takes sulphur and molasses there'd be nothing peculiar to the spring season that would boom any drug store necessities. But even there there is at least one thing the demand for which increases with the advancing season. No layman would ever guess it. The answer is "beauty spots"—those little black stickers which magnify feminine fascinations, emphasize a dimple, or perform a like service. Now isn't that mysterious?

And so it went right down one side of every business street and right up the other. The theory, in every shop, lost—but everywhere, in every shop, there was this Spring atmosphere. Isn't it curious? You can't put your finger on it, but there is undeniably a certain something about Spring.

And when we had to stop we realized that almost no one had agreed with our theory. Even the drug store man had a horrible theory of his own concerning those little black stickers—a theory which we suppress in the interests of our own theory. For in spite of everyone's plain practicality we still think ours the true explanation—which undoubtedly discloses the sex of the investigator, but what of it?

CHINESE NUT FROM AUSTRALIA

One of the distinguishing features of Queensland, Australia, is the variety of climate to be encountered in different parts of the country. Even in the tropical north there lies, a few miles inland from the very middle of the humid belt, a plateau of comparative dryness where the cereals and fruits of cool regions flourish. For the high—a delicious fruit bilberry grows in China—a medium climate is requisite, and it is to be found on the uplands on the western slopes of the coastal range, and in the Cockatoo district, where it is now cultivated with success. Several years ago a few well-authenticated trees were obtained from China, and the cultivation has extended. The trees flourish best on dykes or wet land, where the roots can secure an abundance of water, the bank of a stream or of an irrigation canal being ideal. The flavor of the fruit is not unlike the combination of a cherry and a muscat grape.

ALCOHOL IN ROOM; MRS. LAURA LONG IS FINED $200, COSTS

Mrs. Laura Long was fined $200 and costs by County Judge Brindley, late Monday on charges of buying alcohol in her possession without a permit. Three gallons of alcohol were found in Mrs. Long's room in the Western hotel, on Pearl street, when the hotel was inspected at midnight Saturday by J. Frisely Boodle, head of the federal prohibition agents in western Wisconsin, the police and the sheriff. When arraigned Monday morning, Mrs. Long, through her attorney A. C. Wolfe, entered a plea of not guilty. Later the plea was changed and the fine assessed.

EGYPTIAN TEMPLE UNCOVERED

Important archaeological discoveries have been made by M. Metucl, of the Academy of Inscriptions at Belles Lettres, who was sent by the academy to carry on archaeological work in Syria. In the course of excavations on the site of the ancient city of Byblos, which appears to be an entire measure of an early Egyptian temple has been laid bare only three feet below the surface of the ground.

Among the objects discovered are statues in bronze, gold, ivory, and stucco, and a number of alabaster vases, including a Pharaoh Homage of the Fifth Dynasty, who reigned some 2,500 years before the Christian era. The discovery is of particular interest, as it proves without a doubt that Egyptian penetration of Syria took place at a very early date.

Seasoned Timber

Experiments made by the United States forest service have demonstrated that thoroughly air-dried timber has about double the strength of green timber. Moreover, in order effectively to apply preservative agents to timber, it must be first seasoned, because it is very difficult to inject preservatives into the green wood. The loss of weight by seasoned timber is quite surprising. Western pine loses half its weight after three to five months' seasoning. — Washington Star.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

U. S. TAX RETURNS MUST BE FILED BY MIDNIGHT MARCH 15

ONLY two days remain for filing of calendar year 1921 U. S. Income Tax Returns, by individuals and corporations, and it appears that most parties subject to file have already done so. It is apprehended that through misunderstanding and possible misinformation there yet remain many individuals and corporations who have not yet done so, and unless required returns are so filed by midnight of Wednesday the 15th, many individuals and corporations will be subject to the penalties for failure to file on time, which the U. S. Income Tax Law provides for and which will undoubtedly be asserted where no reasonable cause for such failure exists.

Individuals

The U. S. Income Tax law provides that every single person having net income of $1,000 or more, or gross income of $5,000 must file a return of income on form 1040a or 1040, and that every person, married and living with wife or husband, who has a net income of $2,000 or more, or a gross income of $5,000 must file a return on form 1040a or 1040. The above applies without regard to the personal exemption to be claimed.

Information Returns

Every person, partnership, or corporation who paid to any individual rents, wages, commissions, salaries, interest, or other determinable gain in amount $1,000 or more during the calendar year 1921 is required to file information return on forms 1000 and 1009 on or before March 15, 1922, and failure to do so subjects the party so failing, to the specific penalty of $1,000 provided by law.

Corporations

Every corporation, unless specifically exempted by law, doing business on a calendar year basis, must file either a completed return on or before midnight of March 15, or a tentative return, in proper form.

The above applies even though the corporation operated at a loss during 1921.

Place to Call

The Division Internal Revenue Office on the second floor of the Post-office building will be open until 10 p. m. tonight, March 14th, and all day the 15th from 8 a. m. until midnight for service to the public. Division Chief P. B. Hammond advises, and the force of qualified tax assistants, composed of Revenue Agents L. C. Clarke, and L. S. Denney, Collectors J. E. Harris, J. H. Wyman and W. E. Parsons, will give needed advice and assistance to corporations and individuals.

TREASURY OFFICIALS CALLED TO APPEAR IN BONUS HEARING

Harding, Crissinger and Mellon Wanted to Explain Contradictory Statements

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary Mellon, Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger and Governor Harding of the federal reserve board will be asked to appear before the house wars and means committee to give further statements with regard to the bank loan provision of the soldiers' bonus.

Chairman Fordney said the bill would be reported out as soon as the three officials had been heard. In announcing that the three would appear, Chairman Fordney said it had been decided to call them because they had made statements conflicting with one another.

The committee voted down a motion to suspend the cash feature of the bonus and to postpone the excess profit tax and another motion to restore the war-time income surtax, both of 65 per cent.

INMATE OF POOR FARM ACCUSED OF BEATING A WOMAN

Mrs. Raymond telephoned to 801 Burdick, police commissioner, Tuesday morning that Miller had attacked her, beating her severely, it was said. A warrant for Miller's arrest was sworn out by Burdick.

MORGAN CALLS ON BADGERS TO ABJURE ALL CLASS FEELING

Attorney General Speaks on Duties of Citizenship at Fort Atkinson Monday

FORT ATKINSON, Wis.—Appeal for the dismissal of class and racial consciousness in Wisconsin, and for the development of an interest in the advancement of the best interests of the state regardless of factional differences, was made by Attorney General William J. Morgan, speaking here Monday night on "Co-operation as a Duty of Citizenship."

Attorney General Morgan declared that "too frequently in the past the people of Wisconsin have seen appeals made to one class or another—appeals made to arouse one class against all other classes in the community. There has been too much preaching of class consciousness," he said.

"Could anything be more ghastly," the attorney general asked, "than the need for using the talents and energies of thousands of men and women to settle the settlement of America in support of the government, and yet to see that condition during the war, the logical outgrowth of the phenomenon of some politicians in years gone by, who preached the doctrine of class consciousness, and who have played for the Irish vote, the German vote, the Norwegian vote, the English vote or the Polish vote."

"The racist instinct was kept alive for the purpose of benefiting the politicians who had become artists in playing upon racial feeling, with a set of candidates who were elected because one happened to be a Pole, another an Irishman, and another a German, and not one of whom on the ticket was selected solely because he was a good American, with the interest of his state at heart and the ability to serve all of his fellow citizens conscientiously as a public servant, regardless of whether he was of German, or English, Polish or Irish ancestry."

"Let the people get this one idea firmly fixed in their minds, once and for all—there cannot be a healthy and prosperous and contented state of society unless each and every class gets a square deal—and a square deal means justice to all."

"When all classes in the commonwealth find that their just demands receive consideration—that all are trying to help and boost each other, instead of trying to pull or push down every other class than his own, they will be on the right road to a happy, contented, prosperous and united commonwealth."

"Society is like a chain. It is no stronger than the weakest link. And so in this commonwealth the improvement of the conditions of whatever class is in greatest distress must be looked to. If it is really wished to strengthen the chain, the weakest links be bolstered up."

"Rather than fostering these differences, let us be a united people, who so far as their allegiance is concerned, have forgotten that they were anything but Americans. Then less will need to be spent for armies and navies in preparation for war, because in the spirit and unity of the people they will always be prepared for whatever may be their lot."

BRINGING UP FATHER

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—Around the capitol city, where presumably reliable information may be had, this impression prevails that the governor will not appoint Judge Stevens to the supreme bench to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice Steinhilber. It will appoint C. H. Crews, who is the present recorder of statutes. At first only Stevens was talked about, and there was general satisfaction not only in this country but among the members of the bar all over the state. Just what has caused the probabilities to lean to Crews can only be surmised. It is believed the appointment will be announced within the next ten days.

The administration of the new teachers' retirement law is not without its difficulties. Questions are arising continually which tax the ability of the secretary of the board to the limit, occasionally that official has to refer questions to the attorney general for a ruling. The latest question which has to be so referred arose through the desire of a woman teacher to make her pastor her beneficiary in case of death. The attorney general after giving the subject careful attention held that "under the established rules governing insurance interest does not create an insurable interest."

"I have found," says the attorney general, "no case passing upon the exact point, but the governing principles are sufficiently established in a very large number of cases where relationships much closer, in law, than that of pastor and communicant have been held insufficient. A case quite closely approaching the present one is Trinity College vs. Travelers Insurance company, 22 L. R. A. 201, (N. C.), where a religious college was held to have no insurable interest in the life of a member of the church, by which the college was maintained. It is possible that if, in the present case, the teacher was one of the principal officers of the church, the result might be different."

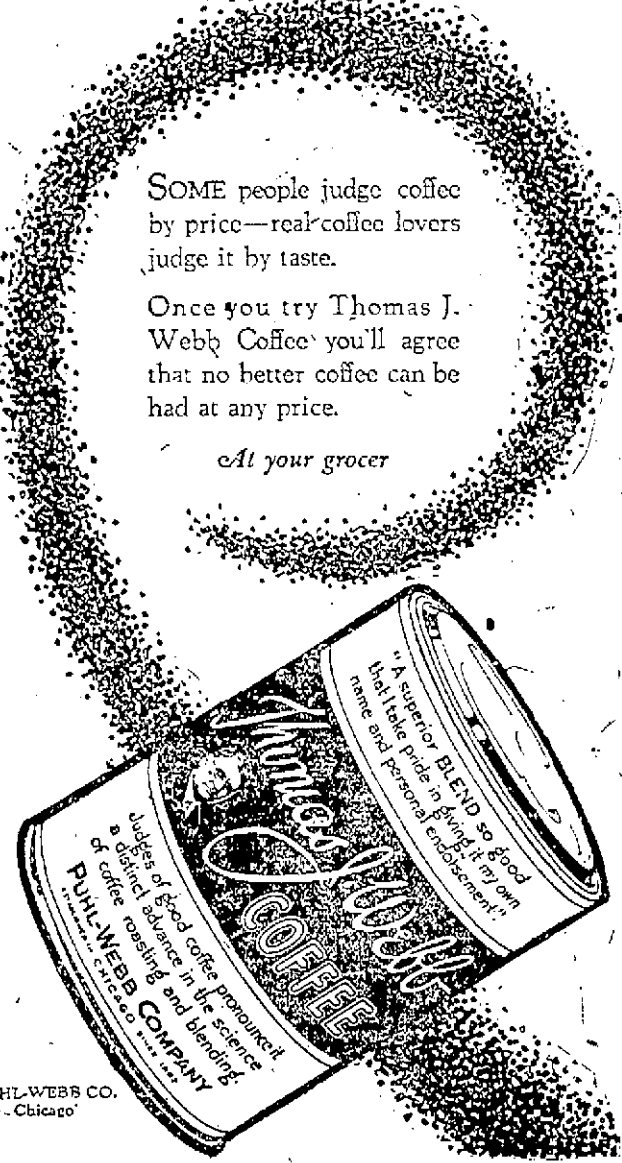

financial supporters of the church, it could be said that the pastor would have an insurable interest in her life, but the expectation of future contributions toward his salary, but the facts which you state from the teacher's letter negative any such situation in this case. In my opinion, therefore, the teacher you refer to cannot lawfully designate her pastor as beneficiary under the teachers' retirement act."

Wisconsin in 1922 was again fourth among the states in the aggregate value of livestock. Only Iowa, Texas and Illinois exceed her in total valuation. Figures compiled by J. A. Beck, editor of the crop reporting service at Madison, show a total value for cattle, swine, sheep and horses, of 212 million dollars, compared to 237 for Iowa, 315 for Texas, 232 for Illinois, and 205 for Minnesota. In 1921 Wisconsin ranked fourth, in 1920, fifth; in 1919, sixth; in 1918, eighth; and in 1917, seventh. The more stable values of dairy cattle have enabled Wisconsin to increase her rank in livestock values.

It is the opinion of many people that there will be two leading issues in this year's political campaign—the "dry" question and taxes. The justice and necessity of the high taxes of this year will not be given much attention by those who have had to borrow money to meet their taxes. The fact that there hasn't been any extravagance, no further creation of new and expensive boards and commissions will be lost sight of when the people start to howl about the amount they have had to pay this year. It's going to be safer and more comfortable to hold an umbrella or get in out of the wet this year than to stand and protest that the tax levied in 1921 is a just and a fair one.

Thousands of Lives Saved

While the death rate from tuberculosis during the past year in New York city was greater than the average for the remainder of the United States, it showed a very encouraging decline as compared with the figures for previous years. The death rate for that city was 126 last year for each 100,000 deaths against 112 in the entire country outside of New York. The figures of the city for eleven years show that the rate has declined by 45 per cent. in New York city.

Keep that wedding day complexion

The blushing bride of today should be the blooming matron of tomorrow, retaining the charm of girlhood's freshness to enhance radiant maturity.
For bridal beauty should not fade, nor the passing of each anniversary be recorded on your face.
Keep the school-girl complexion which graced your wedding day, and you will keep your youth. With a fresh, smooth skin no woman ever seems old.
The problem of keeping such a complexion was solved centuries ago. The method is simple—the means within the reach of all.

oil and perspiration to collect and clog the pores if you value clearness and fine texture.
You can't depend on cold cream to do this cleansing—repeated applications help fill up the pores. The best way is to wash your face with the mild, soothing lather blended from palm and olive oils, the cleansers used by Cleopatra.
Science has combined those two Oriental oils in the bland, balmy facial soap which bears their name. You need never be afraid of the effects of soap and water if the soap you use is Palmolive.

Oily skins won't need cold cream or lotions after using Palmolive. If the skin is inclined to dryness, the time to apply cold cream is after this cosmetic cleansing.
And remember, powder and rouge are perfectly harmless when applied to a clean skin and removed carefully once a day.

Cosmetic cleansing the secret
To keep your complexion fresh and smooth you must keep it scrupulously clean. You can't allow dirt,

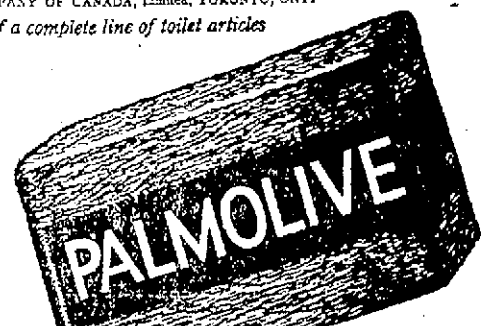

How it acts
The rich, profuse lather, massaged into the skin, penetrates the pores and removes every trace of the clogging accumulations which when neglected make the skin texture coarse and cause blackheads and blotches.
It softens the skin and keeps it flexible and smooth. It freshens and stimulates, encouraging firmness and attractive natural color.

Don't use it only for your face
Complexion beauty should extend to throat, neck and shoulders. These are quite as conspicuous as your face for beauty or the lack of it.
Give them the same beautifying cleansing that you do your face and they become soft, white and smooth. Use it regularly for bathing and let it do for your body what it does for your face.

Not too expensive
Although Palmolive is the finest, mildest facial soap that can be produced, the price is not too high to permit general use on the washstand for bathing.
This moderate price is due to popularity, to the enormous demand which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night and necessitates the importation of the costly oils in vast quantities.
Thus soap which would cost at least 25 cents a cake if made in small quantities is offered for only 10 cents, a price all can afford. The old-time luxury of the few may now be enjoyed the world over.

Volume and efficiency produce 25-cent quality for only 10c

"FOREVER"—RIVOLI

One of the most remarkable pictures seen here this season is "Forever," starring Elsie Ferguson and Wallace Reid, which is now at the Rivoli. The picture, a George Fitzmaurice production of the finest grade, is one that can be recommended to the most blasé picture fan, because of its beauty, drama and appeal. The cast is unusually clever. The play is of a texture entirely new to the ordinary realism of the screen. It is poetic, illusory and delicate. It is strong without being violent or brutal or "red-blooded." In many respects it marks a new achievement of the photodrama. Here, before the "movies" have been materialistic, "Forever" seeks to transfer the overtones, the imagination which has been the peculiar province of the written word into visual action. And it has succeeded marvelously. It has taken a story that is by canons of realism highly impossible and made it powerfully convincing, and appealing as well to the heart and mind as to the eye. Not a "lesson" or a "problem" play—just a charming romantic one. Don't miss "Forever" if you have a mind that appreciates beauty of the eye or of the spirit.

AGNES AYRES—MAJESTIC

A hidden will, a wild chase after a villain by the heroine, in an old-fashioned carriage, a duel between the two principal male characters, a villain who could hardly be excused in villainy—these are a few of the features of Sir Gilbert Parker's Paramount picture, "The Lane that Had No Turning," which was the attraction last night at the Majestic theater.

Much favorable comment for the new star, Agnes Ayres, was heard on all sides. She was charming and acted superbly. The role she plays is a heavy and emotional one. Theodore Kosloff, Malton Hamilton, Frank Campana and others have the leading male roles.

The story concerns the marriage of Madeline to Louis, and his supposed inheritance of an old estate in French Canadian precincts. He is injured and develops a mumpkin, but his wife sticks by him until he

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Who Lost Himself," also a Selznick picture.

"Conceit" is a fast moving drama with scenes laid equally in the society circles of a great city and in the great wilderness of the north country. The working out of a man's regeneration until he conquers both his weakness that threatened both his life and happiness forms the basis of the theme.

AT THE STRAND

A situation that had not been written in the story of "The Fox" by its author and star, Harry Carey, occurred while scenes were being made on the Mojave desert more than a hundred miles from civilization.

With Carey and his company filming "The Fox" was a full troop of cavalry from the Presidio at Monterey. The officers and some of the men sat about chatting one day when suddenly there appeared on the horizon a queer sight. Peter O'Brien, a desert cat, drove up in a rickety cart made of barrel staves behind a strange and hungry-looking little burro.

Craved by the desert heat and with only a little food and water, he had made his last stand and asked only that death relieve him from his difficulties. Given extra rations and water, the erratic old man and his queer vehicle disappeared over the rim of the desert, and soon were lost to view.

Shortly afterward Harry Carey returned and heard the story. Without hesitating a moment he got into his machine and dashed after the ragged old wanderer of the desert.

With his high-powered car bucking high and low, the rickety western star finally came upon the old fellow, who sat with head in hands waiting for the end. Tenderly the old prospector was put into the star's machine and taken back to civilization and a hospital.

AT THE RIVIERA

Did you ever see pictures of Irene Castle with her little monk looking up wistfully into her face? The monk and Irene are inseparable friends. Wherever Mrs. Castle goes, "Joekie" goes too. One is known almost as well as the other, and both will be seen in a picture called "French Boots" at the Riviera Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Castle is the star, while "Joekie" has only a small part—just a bit, as they say in the profession. But while "Joekie" was acting his "bit" he made more trouble for the director than all the other actors and actresses put together.

NEW YORK.—Seymour, J. Cox, promoter, was arrested in the Broadway theatrical district charged with having used the mails to defraud investors of $1,000,000.

CHICAGO.—John Lipinski and his three children were found dead in a gas filled room. A note found on a table among overturned whiskey bottles said: "I must go."

Kellogg's Bran is nature's own relief from constipation!

You must not take chances with constipation when statistics tell you that nine-tenths of all sickness can be traced to it! You must get permanent relief; you must drive constipation out of your system!

Realize that pills and cathartics, at best, can only afford temporary relief, while they are irritating to the delicate intestinal tract.

Now—compare the action of these pills and cathartics with the natural and wholesome effect of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Science knows of no such wonderful sweeper, cleanser and purifier of the bowels as Kellogg's Bran, yet it is simply nature's food. Bran's effect is certain and relief permanent if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten daily. Chronic cases should eat as much more as is necessary for results. Taken consistently, Kellogg's Bran will drive constipation from the system. Your physician will endorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation!

Eat Kellogg's Bran either as a delicious and nutritious cereal, or sprinkle it over your favorite cereal. Eat it in many other foods which are made more appetizing by its nut-like flavor! Kellogg's Bran pancakes are the best you ever tasted! Use it in raisin bread or muffins, gravies, macaroons, pancakes, etc. (Recipes on package.)

The big thing is to get Kellogg's Bran into your system quickly! Get it at your grocer's.

P. S.—Pimples are caused by constipation. Kellogg's Bran will clear them up and also free your breath from intestinal odors.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—With one juror passed temporarily, efforts to select twelve persons to try Roscoe Arbuckle for the third time on a manslaughter charge continued here Tuesday. It is expected by both prosecution and defense attorneys that most if not all of the week will be consumed in the selection of a jury. Six veniremen were examined Monday and four were excused for having opinions regarding the defendant's guilt or innocence. One of the six was being examined when court adjourned until Tuesday. Little public interest is being shown in the case.

HARRY GREB GETS JUDGES DECISION OVER TOM GIBBONS

It Was Grand Coming Out Affair for the Pittsburgh Glove Swinger

RECORD CROWD OF SOCIAL LEADERS WITNESS BATTLE

Judge's Decision to Greb After Fifteen Rounds

NEW YORK.—Harry Greb, a young man from Pittsburgh, was Tuesday evening the center of a social gathering at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. He was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Pittsburgh Glove Swinger, a group of social leaders who had gathered to witness the battle between Greb and Tom Gibbons.

The two men, light-heavyweight fighters by profession, were killed in a boxing ring at Madison Square Garden last night. Greb, who was the favorite, won the fight by a unanimous decision after fifteen rounds.

Mr. Greb was awarded the winner's prize of $10,000. He was also awarded the title of champion of the world. The fight was a grand coming out affair for the Pittsburgh Glove Swinger, a group of social leaders who had gathered to witness the battle between Greb and Tom Gibbons.

JOHNSTON ONE OF GOLF INVADERS OF BRITAIN THIS YEAR

Reputed to be One of Longest Drivers Seen on American Links

CHICAGO, Ill.—Harrison Johnston, St. Paul, will be one of the golf invaders of Great Britain this summer, according to word received by Chicago friends. Johnston is one of the longest drivers seen on American links last year, and after defeating Francis Ouimet in the national championship at St. Louis, he failed of making the ultimate champion, Jesse Couper, only by a wild shot at the third hole.

While Johnston is the peer of Guilford and Robert Gardner of Chicago, for long wooden shots, it was only a couple of years ago that he could not hit a full swing with a driver, owing to an illness with which he left the army. Even yet he has a peculiar address, using his club short of the ball and giving it a queer hitch above the ball before he lays on with such power that the ball is driven almost unbelievable distances.

In the western amateur championship Johnston had more than 300 yards of more than 300 yards. Two of them were 370 yards, and Chick Evans says one was 400 yards or more.

The India-rubber was in use in Mexico before the explosion by Cortez.

BASEBALL FANS! LOOK! YOU CAN EARN A SEASON PASS TO NELSON GAMES

BASEBALL fans, do you want to earn a season pass to all games played by the Nelson Clothing company team this year?

Yes, you can do it by solving the subjoined baseball problem correctly.

The sporting department of the Tribune and Leader-Press has made arrangements with officials of the Nelson ball club to issue season passes to the first three fans who submit to the Sporting Editor in person the correct solution of the tangled problem given here-with.

Now get it straight before you start. The passes will go to the FIRST three who hand in to the Sporting Editor personally the correct solution. Answers through the mails will be disregarded. They will be numbered in order as they are submitted in person to the Sporting Editor at the Tribune office. The names of winners will be published on Wednesday, April 1, when the contest closes.

Here is the problem: Figure out how all this happened in one inning of a game last summer. Six batters stepped to the plate. Not a run was scored in the inning despite the fact that a base on balls, a single, a double and a triple were made, and three balls were hit over the fence, all being in fair territory when they passed out of the playing field.

Stranger yet, not a player was retired by being actually touched with the ball.

During all this confusion eight runners apparently crossed the plate.

How did it all happen?

BADGERS HANG UP THREE VICTORIES AMONG BIG 10 UNIVERSITIES SATURDAY

BY BOB DUNN

Saturday was a great day for Wisconsin athletes as the Badgers triumphed over three Big Ten teams in as many sports. In so doing they tied with Michigan for second place in conference basketball, won the dual swimming meet championship of the Big Ten by virtue of its victory over Northwestern, and easily topped the indoor track meet with Iowa which was the first competition in this sport between these conference contenders in the history of the institutions.

Duplicate Maroon Win
Wisconsin duplicated its victory over Chicago on Wednesday night, winning on the Maroon floor on Saturday by a count of 31 to 24. The Badgers got away to a good start with three field goals within the first five minutes of play. They led the first half by one point but increased the advantage during the last period. Captain Casper was the outstanding star with six goals while Williams and Taylor trailed with three apiece.

The guarding of the Badgers was also of a high class, the efforts of Robert Williams holding the Maroons almost exclusively to long attempts at the basket.

The victory over Chicago was the last game in the conference and left the Badgers with leading honors with eight victories and one defeat, and Wisconsin and Michigan tied for second place with eight victories and four defeats. Last year Wisconsin and Michigan had exactly the same percentage standing, with eight victories and four defeats apiece, but tied for leading Big Ten honors. Pursued by the loss of some of its glamour because of the circumstances which permitted Whitey Purdie's star to go through more than half the season as the leading member of the squad before he was declared ineligible by the Purdue faculty and forced to withdraw from the squad.

Beat Purple Swimmers
Wisconsin also won its last dual swimming meet on Saturday night from the strong Northwestern aggregation, 20 to 22, and by virtue of the win won clear claim to the Big Ten dual swimming meet championship.

Win Track Meet
Wisconsin's third conference victory on Saturday came over Iowa in a dual indoor track meet held in the gymnasium annex at Madison. The final score was 55-23 to 33-1-3. One annex record was broken when Platon of Wisconsin went 6 feet, 4-3/8 inches in the high jump, bettering the former mark in the event held by Bob Walsh of Wisconsin and Louie of the U. S. A.

Captain Knollin of the Badgers was off color in the meet, as he had been at the Illinois relay, failing to score a single point for his team although he equaled the annex record in the trial heat of the 40 yard dash. Brooks, Spitz and Wilson defeated him in the final heat.

Newell, a Badger who is usually rated below Captain Knollin and Stanley of Wisconsin, proved to be the dark horse in the hurdles, showing his heels to Bolding and Slope of Iowa to unexpectedly win the event. Wisconsin captured first place in 7 of the 10 events of the meet.

LUTHERAN CHURCH ORGANIZES N. L. C. A. CONFERENCE MONDAY

DECORAH, Iowa.—On the last day of the tournament at Luther college the schools which have been competing under the name "N. L. C. A. conference" perfected a formal organization which has existed for purposes of competition for two years. A conclusion was adopted limiting the membership to prep schools owned or controlled by the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America and the name "N. L. C. A. Academy conference" was formally recognized. The conference will conduct annual competition in declamation, debate and basketball open invitation from a member school. Wisconsin member schools will probably be Yale college of Galesville and Central Wisconsin Luther college of Scandinavia.

NORMAL SCHOOL CELEBRATES WITH FIRE AND PARADE

Approximately five hundred normal students headed by the normal band invaded the loop district of the city Monday night in celebration of the conference championship in basketball won from Oshkosh in the eastern city last Friday.

As a curtain raiser, students labored to assemble a large pile of dry goods boxes and other materials for a bon-fire in the empty lot opposite the normal campus to the west. Cheers, songs and music by the band marked the prelude to the downtown invasion at Eighteenth and State streets.

The fire department, too, rang in the celebration, sending the air with the shrill siren as the equipment dashed to the scene of the bonfire. Traffic was obstructed when the gang reached the downtown district.

REPORT LESS GRAIN THAN LAST YEAR ON WISCONSIN FARMS

Stocks are Twenty-seven Million Bushels Smaller this Year, Says Crop Reporter

GRAIN SHIPMENTS ALSO MUCH SMALLER THAN A YEAR AGO

More Home Grown Grains are Used for Feeding Purposes

MADISON, Wis.—Stocks of grain on the Wisconsin farms March 1 of this year were 27,000,000 bushels less than in 1921, according to the monthly report of Joseph A. Becker, of the Wisconsin Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. Total stocks this year totaled 35,417,000 bushels as compared with 62,417,000 a year ago, and 61,228,000 in 1920. Stocks of corn are slightly greater than last year, while stocks of small grains are only half as large, the report shows.

Shipments of grain are also much less than for the 1920 crop. The small crops of small grains in 1921, combined with the more general feeding home grown grains in preference to purchased feeds, has greatly reduced the surplus on farms.

It is estimated that 29 per cent of the 1921 crop was still on farms on March 1 as compared to 31 per cent in 1921. This represents a reserve of 28,270,000 bushels.

In spite of the large corn crop in 1921, only 1 per cent has been shipped out of the county where grown. This compares with 2 per cent for each of the past two crops. The percentage of the 1921 crop which was of merchantable quality is estimated at 86 per cent compared to 84 per cent in 1920 and 88 per cent in 1921.

Parm stocks of oats are estimated at 23,025,000 bushels, 36 per cent of the 1921 crop, as compared with 47,475,000 bushels a year ago, and 41 per cent of the 1920 crop. Only 6 per cent or 3,837,000 bushels of the 1920 crop will be shipped as compared with 14,028,000 bushels of the 1920 crop.

Parm stocks of barley totaled 2,875,000 bushels as compared with 5,257,000 a year ago, 3,835,000 in 1920 and a five year average of 55,486,000 bushels. This year 27 per cent of last year's crop remained on March 1.

Of the 1921 crop, about 12 per cent, 1,277,000 bushels, will be shipped as compared with 20 per cent, 3,186,000 of the 1920 crop.

Wheat reserves on farms on March 1 were 703,000 bushels as compared with 1,576,000 last year, and 1,671,000 bushels two years ago.

Rye is a more strictly cash crop in Wisconsin than the other grains but only 44 per cent of the 1921 crop will be shipped as compared with 60 per cent last year, the report says. On March 1, 1,046,000 bushels, 22 per cent of 1921 production, were still left on farms as compared with 1,417,000 bushels a year ago, 23 per cent of the 1920 crop.

After Many Years

A proposed wing of the American Museum of Natural Sciences in New York, which was commenced nine years ago and abandoned for lack of funds, is about to be started in earnest, the money having been secured for the week. At that time the foundations were laid, but when the expenditure for this had been consumed, the work was stopped. The wing will be used mainly for the housing of the marine exhibit of the institution, which is very extensive, but which has heretofore been housed for the lack of space to properly exhibit it.

PROCLAMATION OF BLAINE SETS ASIDE MARCH 20 AS LEGION EMPLOYMENT DAY

MADISON, Wis.—American legion employment day was proclaimed by Gov. J. J. Blaine Tuesday for Monday, March 20, in an appeal urging every citizen who is in a position to aid to extend his hand in friendly and helpful co-operation to all service men in affording them an opportunity to obtain work.

"A special effort will be made, culminating on Monday, March 20," Governor Blaine said in his proclamation, "to provide employment for every ex-service man or woman who is not now employed. The work will be under the general management of the American Legion, and the active co-operation of all forms of community and civic organizations is sought."

"I welcome this opportunity formally to co-operate with the movement. The general unemployment problem is serious enough, and everything should be done to relieve all forms of unemployment and the distress incident to it; but the unemployed ex-service men ends for our special interest, our active effort and, if necessary, extraordinary measures to put him in a position to be self-supporting."

"These men, offered themselves, their services, their health and their life on the call of their country. Those who have returned suffered many economic setbacks because of their absence in the service of the United States. The wounded, and many who were not wounded, have suffered physical reactions from the war that have made them unable to continue in their old occupations. The places of many of them were filled during their absence in the service and new opportunities have not opened up to them. Let us help these men, and give them every opportunity to put themselves in the place where they would have been if the war had not interrupted their lives."

"There is a very real, distressing among ex-service men, according to the reports of the American Legion, there are several hundred thousand veterans in the country, out of work and in distress. Each local community is asked to assist its resident veterans. Large responsibilities are placed upon the national commander and the state commander of the American Legion, and upon the individual legion posts, in the matter of locating the men who need assistance and finding out specifically what the things they can do and are ready and willing to do."

"I gladly join with the national and state commanders of the legion in urging the local posts and the post commanders to do their utmost to see that this fundamental information available by the twentieth

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in these elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

WOMAN CANDIDATE FOR CITY CLERK IN ELECTIONS AT TOMAH

Ethel Sowle, Who Assisted Her
Brother in Office for Four Years; Enters Campaign

TOMAH, Wis.—The list of candidates for office at the coming spring election in this city, contains for the first time the name of a woman, Ethel Sowle, who has assisted her brother in the city clerk's office for the past four years, is now a candidate for city clerk. She has but one opponent and stands an excellent chance of being elected.

Seven hundred persons attended the Tomah High school carnival put on by the faculty and Honor staff to raise funds for the publication of the school annual. Two hundred dollars were raised from the carnival. O. V. S. was the choice of king and queen resulting in the crowning of the two most popular students in school, Miss Ann Steinmetz and Leonard Madden.

At least a thousand persons attended the opening of Tomah's remodeled armory, taken over some time since by the state of Wisconsin. The building is being completely furnished by headquarters company, 121st Infantry of Tomah. A formal ball was given on the opening night and was attended by nearly five hundred Tomahites and visitors in the city.

GRONNA TO OPPOSE M'CUMBER FOR SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

Former Senator from North Dakota Files Announcement of His Candidacy

LAKOTA, N. D.—A. J. Gronna, early Thursday morning, announced that he is a candidate for United States senator to succeed Porter J. McCumber, whose term expires on March 4 next. Mr. Gronna represented North Dakota in the upper house for twelve years and was defeated at the 1920 primary by Dr. E. P. Ladd, then president of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

Mr. Gronna issued a statement in which he appealed for support on the nomination on the republican ticket by citizens of all factions.

Regarding the question as to whether he favors the farmers' program, the statement says: "I favor any program which can possibly improve the condition of the farmers, I favor early completion of the state mill and elevator (at Grand Forks). The Bank of North Dakota could and should be made a real farmers' bank to finance the farmer and the state's industries."

"I am opposed to any program based on a false economic principle and which turns out to be only a fake and swindle," the statement says.

It also declared that "the discrimination in rail rates against North Dakota is unjust."

STATE DENOUNCES MRS. OBENCHAIN IN CLOSING ARGUMENTS

Girl Used Husband as "Human Door Mat", Declares Attorney
Fricke

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Arguments in the case of Mrs. Madeline Obenchain, on trial for the murder of her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, were to be resumed with the opening of court Tuesday morning.

Charles W. Fricke, deputy district attorney, opened for the state Monday, dwelling upon the defendant's relations with Kennedy. Arthur C. Burch of Brandon, Ill., her co-defendant, and Ralph K. Obenchain of Chicago, her former husband, and now a member of her counsel.

He declared Mrs. Obenchain had used Obenchain as a "human door mat," that she had "no regard, love, affection, respect or anything else for the love of any man," and that she had married Obenchain "only because she wanted someone to take care of her."

Fricke argued in referring to the testimony given by Obenchain for his former wife, that it was "apparent he was hypnotized, blindfolded and infatuated by this defendant," and that he "continued to do anything she said."

Mr. Fricke will continue his argument Tuesday.

A Genial Heckler

"I was driving along a rough country road the other day," said Lloyd George during an electrifying tour, and at the foot of a steep hill I saw the signboard, 'Please Slacken, the Buns Going Up the Hill.' While reading this it occurred to me that it might be well for people generally to be as kind and considerate in their treatment of their minister as they are of their horses, especially when the load is heavy and the road is steep."

There was a burst of applause from the audience, which appreciated the point of the premier's illustration, but the inevitable wag was present, and he poked up, "Why not try a fluffer, George?"

In The Span of Life
Tropical midgets of sorts live less than a day—sequoias have felt their asp quickened with the warmth of close them again. Modern political geography and shift of government give us Methuselahistic feelings; but a glance at rocks or stars sends us shuddering among the other notes, which glister for a moment in the sunlight and then vanish.
